Applicant argues,

I) "recording a lack of match when no match exist between loaded rows of a first table and loaded row of second table."

In response to applicant argument,

I) It was noted that cited reference fairly suggest recording process when two entries or records are matched (figure 2 depicts and column 8, lines 25-39), therefore, examiner interprets that reference compares two data records and store them into database. Thus, limitations are met by the reference.

Respectfully, applicant is reminded to read the cited reference carefully.
